Effective communication builds strong links among schools, parents, staff and community. Internal and external communication requires the ongoing management of systematic, two-way, honest channels between our educational organization and our publics.

Clear, consistent communication establishes a positive, cohesive image. This handbook offers valuable guidelines for developing communication and supporting materials that reach audiences at the right time and in the right way. Use these guidelines to effectively deliver messages and reinforce the positive image of the Rockwood School District.

The Rockwood Communications Department supports Rockwood’s students, staff and community by providing a forum for strategic, two-way communication. The department works with the media, marketing, printing, graphic design, audio and video and web-based communication strategies for both internal and external audiences.

The Board of Education encourages Rockwood staff to work cooperatively with the news media regarding coverage of the district, its operations, its programs and accomplishments. News and special events should be submitted to the communications department so they can help spread your message.

Things to keep in mind:

At all times, a member of the communications department should be present when students are interviewed or photographed in conjunction with a school or district function. This Board policy is for the safety of the students.

If the media calls your school and wants to interview or photograph a student or staff member, please instruct them to contact the communications department. In like manner, communications will inform the school if such contact originates with them.

If the issue is sensitive or controversial, the executive director communications will consult with the superintendent. Sensitive or controversial issues include, but are not limited to, the following topics: bullying, drugs, alcohol, sex, gangs, weapons, violence and race.

Additionally, if the topic of interview or photography is sensitive or controversial in nature, parental consent is strongly recommended when students are involved.

• What IS news?

Think of news as...

LOCAL: What are you doing in class that could impact St. Louis (help others, provide insight into something new)? Is it tied to a national effort?

TIMELY: We want to share your story before it happens. Call the department of communications ahead of time.

VISUAL: Think about the types of images you see in newspapers, on social media and on television. What will students be doing? What can be seen?

UNIQUE: How is your story idea different?

• How do we promote news?

We have more tools to promote stories than ever before. While securing positive, traditional media coverage remains important to the district, we can now reach thousands of people using JUST Rockwood-driven communication avenues, which includes social media.

News you submit to the communications department is strategically placed on Rockwood websites, social media outlets, the Rockwood app and enewsletters. We also send it to local news outlets:

• KTVI Channel 2
• KMOV Channel 4
• KSDK Channel 5
• KPLR Channel 11
• St. Louis Post-Dispatch
• West Newsmagazine
• The Leader (Eureka)

• How can you help promote news?

It’s easy. Send an email to feesalex@rsdmo.org or call 636-733-1151 with your story idea. Every idea has potential. Nothing is too small!

Once you help get the communications department’s foot in the door, we will take over from there. We know you are busy. We want to make the process fun and enjoyable for all.

https://one.rsdmo.org/communications/media
When the media wants to interview an administrator, principal or staff member, the communications department will always help with preparation. We want you to feel comfortable, relaxed and ready!

How can you prepare for an interview?

• Do your research: What is the topic of the interview? What are the most important points you want to convey in the interview?

• Know your key messages: Consider the two or three most important points to make and stick to them.

• Relax: A vast majority of interviews aren’t live. If you stumble, it’s okay! You can always start over.

Rockwood employees should never provide certain information to the media:

• Student discipline issues.
• Student records.
• Investigations or pending litigation.
• Personnel matters or incidents relating to specific employees.
• Real estate transactions.
• Competitive or proprietary information.
• Plans, programs or operations that have not been publicly announced.
• Labor negotiations or contract terms.

The Rockwood School District operates in compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, or FERPA.

This law allows students and parents to opt-out of the release of certain information about students including photographs.

A school may disclose directory information to anyone, without consent, if it has given parents: 1) general notice of the information it has designated as “directory information,” 2) the right to opt-out of these disclosures and 3) the period of time they have to notify the school of their desire to opt-out.

The Rockwood School Board, in Regulation 2400, has identified FERPA directory information to include:

- Student name
- Student birth date
- Address of the student
- Phone number of the student
- Grade level
- Major field of study
- Participation in officially recognized activities and sports
- Weight and height of members of athletic teams
- Dates of attendance
- Degrees
- Awards
- Most previous school attended
- Photographs
- Email addresses of parent/guardian

Information that is not released:

- Educational record (except information designated by the district as directory information)
- Student health information

What you need to know about student photos and information:

https://one.rsdmo.org/communications/documents/ferpa.pdf

Sending photos to local media:

The communications department is happy to help you send photos to local media. Please contact the communications department with events needing a photographer.

If the communications department cannot make it to the event, please designate a photographer at your school. Send the photos to the communications department for distribution to local media - feesalex@rsdmo.org
A crisis can be broadly defined. No matter the situation, we want you to be prepared from a communications standpoint.

We will assist you every step of the way to ensure our community feels informed, our students feel safe and our staff feels confident in their leaders.

Please take time to review your crisis and safety plans on a regular basis.

Media guidelines during a crisis:

Refer all news inquiries to the communications department. We want you to focus on your students and staff during the emergency.

With the help of the building administrator, we will designate an area for reporters:
- All media will be asked to wait in this area.
- They will be provided with frequent updates or interviews as soon as new information is available.

If you are contacted by the media via telephone during the crisis:
- Direct the media to the communications department
- Do not speculate.

If there is no spokesperson on the scene, and you must answer questions, keep the following in mind:
- Focus on the students and show compassion.
- Do not give information unless you are absolutely sure of its accuracy. It is better to say, “I don’t know at this time” than to give out wrong information or mislead a reporter.
- Withhold the names of any victims until the families have been notified.
- Keep cool. Be polite and cooperative, and don’t allow yourself to be provoked.
- Remember when talking to a reporter, there’s no such thing as “off the record.”
- State matter of factly when you can release information and why. Say, “This is what we know at this time.”
- Short answers are better than long; however, use full sentences and never answer with “yes” or “no.”
- Maintain good eye contact with the interviewer.
- If a student or staff member involved in a non-legal incident has been publicly identified, a reporter may ask for a yearbook photo. Such requests will be honored by the department of communications, as yearbooks and their contents are considered public documents.

email etiquette

Under Missouri Public Records Law, all email messages are public records. Never include anything in an email message that you would be embarrassed to have everyone see.

Read the District’s full Records Retention Policy and Regulation (1510) and download the Records Retention Manual on the Rockwood website.

According to the Rockwood School District’s Regulation 6321, utilizing the network, including the email system for soliciting, advertising, fundraising, commercial purposes or for financial gain, is not allowed unless authorized by the district.

DO:

• Take another look before you send a message
• Be concise and to the point
• Answer all questions from sender
• Respond in a timely fashion
• Pick up the phone if situation requires more explanation
• Maintain privacy and FERPA rules
• Always include a signature
• Show concern and respect

DON’T:

• Place blame in email
• Take it personally
• Send one-lined responses
• Hit “reply all” when not necessary
• Use jargon or slang
• Email when tension is high
• Leave subject line blank
• Type in capital letters

District and school events require careful and thoughtful planning. Whether it is a 50th anniversary celebration, an open house or a graduation, special events offer wonderful opportunities to highlight the achievements of our schools and the Rockwood School District.

The communications department wants to make sure your event goes smoothly! The best way to accomplish that goal is to follow a simple timeline.

One month or more out:
Establish a budget for the event, create a sample event rundown and establish tentative and confirmed dates on all calendars. You will also want to be sure all speakers, honorary guests and the communications department are informed of the date.

Four weeks or less out:
Contact the print department if printed materials are needed, prepare scripts and speeches for the speakers and contact the communications department about promoting the event. Make sure it is on your school calendar.

Two weeks or less out:
Finalize setup, print programs and signage, check audio and video needs, assign staff and student duties and create an announcement on your school website. Also, be sure to share the information with parents (if applicable) through School Messenger.

Day of event:
Confirm set up is complete, test A/V equipment, make sure student greeters are in place, check FERPA status of students attending the event, take pictures and video of event, make sure guests are comfortable and have fun!

After the event, be sure to share pictures and video with the communications department and on social media!

https://one.rsdmo.org/communications/pages/resources.aspx
Websites

Why they are important:

Each Rockwood School District website is a vital communications tool for parents, students, prospective Rockwood parents and the community. For this reason, it is important to create consistent, comprehensive, informative and user-friendly websites that will adequately represent the district.

Every school and department website contributes to the user’s perception of the Rockwood School District.

Types of websites in Rockwood:

- Department
- School
- Teacher
- Intranet

Training is provided by the communications department for website management. We want to ensure you feel comfortable with content creation, photo editing and web management. To request training please contact webmaster@rsdmo.org.

Tips for websites:

- Pictures should be less than 400 pixels wide or 400 pixels in height.
- All pictures must be saved in one of the following formats: jpg, gif or png.
- All images files, including clip art, must be obtained legally for use on any website. See page 12 for more information about copyright.
- Only PDFs can be uploaded. No Word files.
- All Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) regulations must be followed at all times.

https://one.rsdmo.org/communications/web
Every person who writes a document published on the internet, creates a graphic or icon, scans his or her own photograph, creates a document for a newsgroup or designs a web page owns the copyright to his or her creative work.

It's easier than ever to search for an image on the internet. Please know any district employee who knowingly or unknowingly allows copyright infringement to occur is likely to be named among the defendants in any legal action. Penalties can be stiff. The district employee need not actually participate in the infringement to be considered responsible, at least in part, for the violation.

UNLESS THERE IS A CLEAR STATEMENT THAT ART, PHOTOS, AND TEXT ARE “PUBLIC DOMAIN” AND AVAILABLE FOR FREE USE, ONE SHOULD ASSUME THEY ARE COPYRIGHTED.

How can I find images that aren’t copyrighted?

1. Go to images.google.com
2. Type in the image you want to find
3. Click on “Search Tools”
4. Click on “Usage Rights”
5. Choose “Labeled for reuse” or “Labeled for noncommercial use”
6. Find the right image that suits your needs!

branding and logos

Why is branding important?

• Recognition - When branding is consistent and easy to recognize, the community feels more comfortable with the district. It also helps set Rockwood apart from other districts. The Rockwood brand represents YOU! You are the brand. Our staff is the brand. Our marketing materials are the brand.

• Morale - A clear brand strategy helps our staff be successful. It tells them what is expected and how to meet Rockwood’s goals.

• Word of Mouth - People love to tell others about the brands they like.

• User Experience - Parents, staff, students and the community want to know what to expect from Rockwood.

• Focus - A clear brand strategy helps Rockwood stay focused on our mission.

• Emotion - When people see the Rockwood brand, we want them to feel good about the district.

An approved Rockwood School District logo should be included on all formal district documents and publications sent to the public. Logos should not be redrawn, modified or displayed in rough form.

The logo should be presented in color whenever possible. The color used for the logo is PMS 541, RGB 0,68,115, HTML #004473, or Wedgwood. When color presentation is not possible, black versions of the logo may be used.

School branding is important because it provides recognition, morale, focus and emotion. Your school logo represents YOU. It allows your community to uniquely identify both you and what you stand for.

What are the steps to change a school’s brand or mascot?

Contact the communications department to get the process started. Schools that use copyrighted material for their mascot can be liable for legal action.

Check out the branding site on One Rockwood: https://one.rsdmo.org/communications/branding Social media may be used as an important communications tool. By 2019, more than 210 million people will be using Facebook in the United States. Most of these users are accessing the platform using their mobile device. The same goes with Twitter.

In Rockwood, we use social media as another way to communicate with parents, staff and the community. We use engaging content to drive parents to our Rockwood websites every day.

Having a Facebook page or Twitter account isn’t mandatory in Rockwood. However, if you are interested in actively engaging with your parents via social media, the communications department is here to help you!

Three big things for your post:

1. Take a Picture - get 39 percent more interaction on your post
2. Share a Link - direct people to your announcements
3. Be concise - posts below 250 characters get 60 percent more engagement

1. Take a Picture - get 150 percent more retweets
2. Share a Link - get 86 percent more retweets
3. Use hashtags carefully - more than two will decrease your retweet rate

Don’t forget:

- Keep your professional and personal accounts separate. Know how your smartphone apps work!
- Comply with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA).
- Align all posts with Policy and Regulation 4812.
- Monitor your feed and delete any inappropriate activity.

https://one.rsdmo.org/communications/socialmedia
a, an Use the article a before consonant sounds: a historic event, a one-year term (sounds as if it begins with a w), a united stand (sounds like you). Use the article an before vowel sounds: an energy crisis, an honorable man (the h is silent), an NBA record (sounds like it begins with the letter e), an 1890s celebration.

abbreviation Avoid using abbreviations the reader would not quickly recognize.

Some general principles:

BEFORE A NAME: Abbreviate the following titles when used before a full name outside direct quotations: Dr., Gov., Mr., Mrs. Spell out all except Dr., Mr., Mrs., and Ms. when they are used before a name in direct quotations.

AFTER A NAME: Abbreviate junior or senior after an individual’s full name and do not precede with a comma: Martin Luther King Jr., George Bush Sr. Abbreviate company, corporation, incorporated and limited when used after the name of a corporate entity.

In some cases, an academic degree may be abbreviated after an individual’s name. See academic degrees.

WITH DATES OR NUMERALS: Use the abbreviations a.m., p.m., No., and abbreviate certain months when used with the day of the month.

See dates.

Wrong: Early this a.m. he asked for the No. of your room. The abbreviations are correct only with figures.

Right: At 9:30 a.m.; in room No. 6; on Nov. 13.

IN NUMBERED ADDRESSES: Abbreviate avenue, boulevard and street in numbered addresses: He lives on Maryland Avenue. He lives at 1215 Maryland Ave.

academic degrees Do not precede a name with a courtesy title for an academic degree and follow the name with the degree abbreviation in the same reference.

A degree can either precede a name, such as: Dr. Eric Knost; or follow the name, such as: Eric Knost, Ed.D.

Wrong: Dr. Eric Knost, Ed.D.

Use an apostrophe in bachelor’s degree, a master’s degree, etc. Do not use an apostrophe in associate degree. Capitalize degree names if used in full: Master of Education, Bachelor of Science, Doctor of Education, etc. Lowercase, otherwise. See associate degree, bachelor’s degree, doctorate and master’s degree.

academic departments Use lowercase except for words that are proper nouns or adjectives: the department of history, the history department, the department of English, the English department or when department is part of the official and formal name: Rockwood School District Department of Communications.

accept, except Accept means to receive.

Except means to exclude.

acronym Avoid using an acronym on first reference, unless its meaning is readily recognized. Write a name in full on first reference, directly followed by the acronym in parentheses. An acronym then can be used in all subsequent references.
acting Always lowercase, but capitalize any formal title that may follow before a name: acting Principal John Smith. See titles.

addresses Follow the guidelines established by the U.S. Postal Service for mailing addresses. When listing an address in a publication, use the state abbreviations in this guide with the city names. See states. Use abbreviations Ave., Blvd. and St. only with a numbered address. Spell out and capitalize First through Ninth when used as street names; use figures with two letters for 10th and above. Abbreviate compass points with a single, capital letter to indicate directional ends of a street in a numbered address, but spell out directions in a street name: 95 E. Beetdigger Blvd., 9361 S. 300 East.

Advanced Placement AP is acceptable on second reference.

adviser Not advisor.

affect, effect Affect, as a verb, means to influence: The game will affect the standings. Effect, as a verb, means to cause: He will effect many changes in the company. Effect, as a noun, means result: The effect of the program was overwhelming.

busing, buses Not busses.

Bylaw not by-law.

Cabinet See Superintendent’s Cabinet.

capital, capitol Capital describes money, equipment or property used in a business, or the city where a seat of government is located. Capitol refers to a building and is capitalized in reference to a specific capitol building.

capitalization In general, avoid unnecessary capitalization.

PROPER NAMES: Capitalize common nouns such as river, street and west when they are an integral part of the full name for a person, place or thing: Mississippi River, West Virginia.

Lowercase these common nouns when they stand alone in subsequent reference: the river, the street.

Lowercase the common noun elements of names in all plural uses: First and Second streets, lakes Erie and Ontario.

COMPOSITIONS: Capitalize the principal words in the names of books, movies, play, poems, operas, songs, radio and television programs, works of art, etc. See titles.

TITLES: Capitalize formal titles when used immediately before a name. Lowercase formal titles when used alone or in constructions that set them off from a name by commas. See titles.

capitol See capital, capitol.

car pool (n.), carpool (v. and adj.)
chairman, chairwoman  The term chair should not be used. Only use chairperson if it is the organization’s formal title for an office. Capitalize as a formal title before a name: company Chairman Henry Ford.

Do not capitalize as a casual, temporary position: meeting chairman Robert Jones.

TimeClock Plus The software system used by Rockwood to collect timekeeping information for non-exempt staff.

times Use figures except for noon and midnight. Use a colon to separate hours from minutes, but avoid “:00” to represent the top of the hour: 10:45 a.m., 4 p.m. Avoid such redundancies as 7 a.m. this morning, 7 p.m. tonight or 12 noon. See noon, and a.m., p.m. Never use o’clock.

titles

COMPOSITION TITLES: Apply the guidelines listed here to book titles, computer game titles, movie titles, opera titles, play titles, poem titles, album and song titles, radio and television program titles, and the titles of lectures, speeches and works of art.

– Capitalize the principal words, including prepositions and conjunctions of four or more letters.

– Capitalize an article – the, a, an – or words of fewer than four letters if it is the first or last word in a title.

– Put quotation marks around the names of all such works except the Bible and books that are primarily catalogs of reference material. Do not use quotation marks around such software titles as WordPerfect or Windows.

– Translate a foreign title into English unless a work is known to the American public by its foreign name.

COURTESY TITLES: In general, avoid the use of courtesy titles: Mr., Mrs., Miss, Ms. in written correspondence. However, since these titles are commonly used in schools, exceptions may be made for publications specifically directed to parents and/or students.

JOB TITLES: In general, confine capitalization to formal titles used directly before an individual’s name Superintendent Eric Knost, Ed.D.; teacher Patrick Smith; Chris Johnson, school secretary. Lowercase titles when not used with an individual’s name: The superintendent issued a statement; the Board president approved the measure. See acting, assistant principal, superintendent and Appendix D: District Administration Titles.

Trending Used to indicate that a particular topic is getting a lot of attention on a social network, search engine or website. Often used as a verb.

Twitter A community-based, message-distribution system that allows users to post continual status updates of up to 140 characters detailing their activities for followers. The verb is to tweet. A twitter message is also known as a tweet. The use of a number sign (#) or hashtag is used to convey the subject the user is talking about.

underway one word in all uses.

United States Spell out when used as a noun. Use U.S. (no space) only as an adjective.

Valentine’s Day Use an apostrophe.

Veterans Day No apostrophe.
